The first system of the musical score consists of a vocal line and a piano accompaniment. The vocal line is written in a single staff with a treble clef, featuring a series of eighth and sixteenth notes. The piano accompaniment is written in two staves (treble and bass clefs), with the right hand playing chords and the left hand playing a bass line. The key signature has one sharp (F#), and the time signature is 4/4.

The second system of the musical score continues the vocal line and piano accompaniment. The vocal line includes a long note with a wavy line underneath it, indicating a slide. The piano accompaniment features a strong, rhythmic bass line in the left hand and chords in the right hand. The key signature remains one sharp (F#), and the time signature is 4/4.

Note: The assumption, in the text, that the result of our national election in 1920, was a definite indication, that the country, (at least, the majority-mind) turned its back on a high purpose is not conclusive. Unfortunately election returns coming through the present party system prove nothing conclusively. The voice of the people sounding through the mouth of the parties, becomes somewhat emasculated. It is not inconceivable that practical ways may be found for more accurately registering and expressing popular thought— at least, in relation to the larger primary problems, which concern us all. A suggestion to this end (if we may be forgiven a further digression) in the form of a constitutional amendment together with an article discussing the plan in some detail and from various aspects, will be gladly sent, by the writer, to any one who is interested enough to write for it.
